

BLACK MAGICK WITH BLACK CANDLES AND CHANTS

S ROB

BLACK MAGICK WITH BLACK CANDLES AND CHANTS

By

S Rob

Chapter 1

This magick is very easy, and it does not need many things, in fact all that you will require for all of the magick in this book is one single black candle, something to light it with, a piece of paper and a pen, a candle stick or even a jam jar to place the candle in when lit, and nothing else. It is paired down and quite minimal: although you still need the candle. But the candle represents something and this is why it is used, the candle represents the darkness of the magick: this magick here is black magick to be used against other people, and when you light it this symbolises the power of the black magick. But do not think that working this magick makes you a bad person because it does not, and it should be noted that many countries have the death penalty and if this was done through magick and not the electric chair then this too would be considered black magick. It is rather that the world in which we live sometimes requires us to be able to attack as well as defend, and sometimes attack is the only form of protection we have. But I am not talking some clumsy sort of attack that may hurt anyone but instead an attack which only damages the person who we wish to attack and will leave all other parties alone: and this is much better than can be said for physical attacks most of the time, and with this sometimes many innocent parties are affected. But it is not just a matter of lighting the candle; there is more to it than that. But it is the fact that we want this magick to work which makes it work, it is our human will which is important, because this with the correct method works magick. But it also is true that magick is empowering and it is my belief that everyone should do magick, and yet we all have this power within us, and yet without the correct method and knowledge this power is wasted or even worse it works against the person, and tries to find its way out in other ways and this type of person must do magick or else many difficulties can be with them unnecessarily. Such problems can be trouble concentrating and many unexpected things occurring, because with this type of person the magical energy fights to find a way out anyway it can. But this is a lesson to us all that such magick power cannot be contained forever inside a person like holding water in a cup: it should be used and let out, and this is the correct way forward for people, to use the power they have. This will make their lives better and give them the power to deal with enemies the easy way: using magick. But to do this you will need to know how and I will show you this now.

The first thing that you need to know about this magick is that it is necessary to have a black candle and it should be stood right in front of you, and you should have the paper and pen and something to light the candle with, and also to be prepared to will the magick to work. This magick does not just work because of the candle being lit, also the paper will have wrote upon it a name of some person who you wish to curse in some way, and when this has been wrote on: the candle should be lit: you will then need to chant and it is this chant which also empowers the magick, in fact it is the combination of these elements which make it work as it does. But this means that the correct chant must be used with the name of the person you wish to curse. But do not think as cursing as being something which you can only do one way or which should not be given care, because curses should be given care and thought should be taken, as to what type of curse you wish to use: but as this book has many different types of curses this book solves these problems.

Curse for the person to have problems at home

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy:

the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Hoompro state person's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

You can remove the paper after this, from beneath the candle and throw it away. I know that this magick will work and it will make their home: where they live: not a pleasant place to be and so will cause all types of stress for them, and this magick is a good curse to start with because it will mean that their home life is not as it should be and this is what keeps many people going.

I now wish to show you a curse which will do the same to a person's car as it does to their home: it will make it an unpleasant place to be; it will also cause it to break down and have all types of problems for them and many people spend a lot of time in their cars. But repairing cars also takes a lot of money and the more repairs the car needs and the more frequent they are needed the more expense will be incurred. Therefore for those that wish to use this against their enemies here is this magick.

Curse for an enemy to have problems with their car

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions which follow.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy:

the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Carrprob state person’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick will literally cause a major ongoing problem in their life, and even if they get rid of the car: or other vehicle: the problem will persist because it is the fact that it is their car which is the problem, the curse will make any car or vehicle they own faulty and need repairing constantly: even if they have a fleet of vehicles the curse will still work. But more than anything I hope that this magick help you to understand how magick works, because although this is still a lower level for curses: causing the least harm; it still is very useful and for many curses this will be what is required. But here I will now present some magick so that clothes the person has, will rip, tear, and fray and be in need of repair constantly.

Curse for an enemy's clothes to rip and tear and be in need of repair

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow these directions.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Riclosriri state person's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick you have just learnt will mean the person will be constantly sewing on buttons and needing new clothes, except when they get new clothes they will age very fast and get damaged. It will be like on long cycle of continual spending of money and time upon their clothing, and never looking any better.

Chapter 2

There are times when the curses we use need to be moved up a notch: or maybe that is just my life. But curses do vary in effect upon the person and the curses here are somewhat more powerful and with somewhat nastier effects on the person we choose to curse. But also it should be known that the magick of curses is no more or less varied than other types of magick. But what comes here is more powerful, but also the form of the curses are similar meaning that you have the ability to build upon what you already know and to use this to make what is done here easier. But what is within this chapter is more serious than that in the last chapter, because this magick has a more serious effect, the other chapters also will build in power on from this one. I will now move onto the actual magick itself. But one way which we can start is by thinking of communication, because without communication life is very difficult for us. But many of us rely upon email and the internet day to day and for these people, living a life without the internet would be unthinkable, or at least they may think it is now, but not after they have experienced the effects of this curse: which will make this nightmare very real.

Curse to take away someone's internet

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to work a curse to take away someone's internet.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.

3. You should now chant: “Intenono state person's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the
magick is finished.

This magick will remove or at the very least, slow down greatly the internet connection of the person you curse with it. But sometimes it is necessary for other types of communication problems, and so I will now show you a curse which is to make a person not be understood whenever they speak and so they will find that the lack of communication will make their life very difficult.

Curse so that no one will understand what an enemy says

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse someone so that no one will understand what they say.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Uncomtal state person's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the
magick is finished.

This magick will take away someone ability to communicate using speech but also people communicate using body language and this is a powerful tool and without this they have one less way to communicate to other people. In fact it has been said that most communication is actually body language and so by removing this extremely important method of communicating we set them apart from the world and cut them off: so that their lives are even more difficult. It is easy for us to think about our body language, and know that whenever anyone is near us and knows what we think and we are not talking, then most likely that is our body language being recognised.

Curse so that an enemy's body language will not be understood

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle

with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse stop someone's body language from being understood.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Nonobodlala state person's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick you have just been shown has the power to destroy the body language of someone so that other people can simply not understand it. But there still remains a person's ability to understand what other people say and without this your cursed person will be even more cut off from the rest of humanity. But this magick is to stop them understanding speech and not other types of communication: but the magick's concentration will make it more powerful and so here is the magick to stop someone's ability to understand speech.

Curse so that an enemy cannot understand speech

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse someone so that no one will understand what they say.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy:

the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Deheaspe state person’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

The ability to understand speech is important but as I have already explained the ability to understand body language is important too because although body language cannot communicate as precisely as language: unless you use sign language. Therefore to stop someone understanding other peoples body language here is some magick for this. But the magick must be worked while you are intending it to work. But all of the magick in this chapter and in fact the whole book can be used alongside each other if you desire, and it is also compatible with all other types of magick and all beliefs of all kinds, no matter where they are from or how many people are involved: or even just one: or even no belief whatsoever: magick is for everyone.

Curse to stop an enemy from understanding other people's body language

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to stop an enemy understanding someone else's body language.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Debolan state person's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the
magick is finished.

I feel it is great that you have learnt so much magick and that you also now know the power which you have within. It is really wonderful when one more person understands the true nature of their own power and can see the true levels of reality and what lies within. Magick lets us see, not just possibilities but that we can fight our enemies on many different levels if we choose, and we are not limited by the set of tools we have been told exist because we have many more. Let this knowledge fill you, but not dominate you because it is to be use by you, and for what you want.

Never let anyone tell you that you do not have power because you do have power, and this I feel makes the world actually a fairer place, and maybe this is why so many people seek to ask us to suppress the power inside.

Chapter 3

I feel that there are times when what is really needed is for us to attack the one thing which many people take seriously: no not their genitalia: their careers. However as we will be doing this magically they need never know unless we want them to. This also makes our rivals for career promotion most suitable targets for this type of magick: in fact any rival who is at all a rival for our career position. But sometimes this is what makes people's lives difficult because let's face it most people work to maintain their standard of living and for these people: whose number is huge: what they will be losing is current and future wealth flows. But to appreciate this you should think: what if this happened to you and the difference it would make, and if you were to think of the effect that compounding would have upon that money if well invested well then the loss may be huge. But this is a reason to use this curse on others, because sometimes the best form of defence is attack. But also why should promotion not be yours? Why should the job you apply for not be yours? The only reason would be if you were not the best candidate, or did not have connections, or didn't use magick: and note you would need to fulfil at least two of these and so if you do not have the connections or the skill you can still get the job with the power of magick. This is what magick can do: give you an edge over other people, over others who cannot do magick because they do not know how. With this is mind I will show you how to curse someone, or even more than one person to have a wrecked career, and so to stop and destroy their career progress. This magick will require you to utilise as before a black candle, a candle holder of some sort, and a piece of paper and a pen and of course something to light the candle with. You should use the name of your enemy or enemies: although if this is not possible you can simply use whatever name you call them.

Curse to destroy an enemy's career

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to wreck an enemy's career.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Nocarrdecr state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I hope that you use this magick when you need it: when the time is right. But there are also other curses which we can use against someone's career and one of these is to simply stop them from getting any credit for the work they do, and what achievements they make, they will get recognition for in any way whatsoever. This magick is cruel and also quite easy because the one thing which people do not like to give is recognition to people, because many people feel that if too much is given, that somehow they are reduced. But for those that wish to unleash this curse upon their enemy here is how.

Curse to stop an enemy from getting recognition

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse an enemy so they do not get any recognition for their work or achievements.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Noreack state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

The magick which you have just learnt is powerful but it still is not all that we can do, and there is much more and one interesting thing is to simply remove their ability to work so that they literally have no career at all, this will make the person unemployed, and possibly unemployable, and so this should be thought through, because once it is done, it is difficult to undo and it should be considered a permanent magick curse. But for those that are certain that this is what they do want to do to their enemy or enemies, I will present the method here: although it is still good for those that do not have this problem right now, for reference and to see how this is done.

Curse to make an enemy unable to work

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse an enemy so that are unable to work.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.

3. You should now chant: “Unworrnocar state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I hope that you embrace the magick which you have been shown but also it is of great value in terms of knowing that this type of magick can be used against you and so this means that there will be times when you should use magick for protection: although this would be another book. But I also know that what is of value here is not just the magick, but how it can help your life: albeit by hindering other people's lives. It is also well worth knowing that we are best using these curses while trying our best to move our careers forward and this way the enemy or enemies are dropping behind while you are moving forward. I will however now present a curse to hinder career progress of all other people you are competing against you for a job. This means that here you will be using the name of the job you are applying for and not a person.

Curse to stop all rivals getting the job you have applied for

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to stop rivals getting the job you have applied for.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of the job and where it is from: this is the name of the vacancy. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Storiv Frogejo state name of job and where the vacancy is” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick spell is powerful enough but if you have the names of rivals or a rival then you should utilise the other magick in this chapter too: at least that magick which you feel is useful to you, and that you feel is appropriate. In fact judgement as to what is appropriate for what situation is part of using magick and this is quite personal. But magick can and will help you if you use it.

Chapter 4

Although there are times on this Earth when we may feel we are alone, we are not, in fact we never are and there is always someone else on the Earth even if we are alone in our plight. Friendship and relationships are important to us even if at times we do not realise how important they truly are. But friendship is not an easy concept because there are many different layers of connection between people, and many different level of friendship and connection and these mean that a person called a friend may be someone who is merely an acquaintance or a person with which we have a deep friendship and mutual trust. But having someone who we know is good for us and it does make our lives better, and gives us the type of connection which makes our lives easier and helps to give us a sense of perspective which life needs a lot of the time. But also humans are pack animals and we seek some type of pack or group: or many: and we also are social and it is important that we socialise on some level, and yes the internet counts. Once we recognise how good it is to have human communication we realise what a curse would be like that removes this and so I will next present a curse for you to perform which is to push away existing friends.

Curse to push away an enemy's friends

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to the curse to push away an enemy's friend.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Nofeeawawfure state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick you have learnt to perform is very good for you to utilise when you wish to push away someone friends. But also it can be used well with other curses because it removes someone's support system and their ability to tell people they can trust, their problems and so hear solutions and so help them deal with difficulties: and this will increase the pain which anyone feel from any curse. This also shows that there is subtlety to curses and the way they can be used together, in fact a lot of the time for the strongest effect multiple curses should be combined in some way: although there are no hard and fast rules.

However it is true that many of us have love in our lives and this too is something which we hold as valuable to us, and something which is extremely precious. But this is something which a curse can destroy: although strong love is difficult to destroy using magick it can occur: magick like this is very cruel to our enemies but then again maybe it is best to be cruel to our enemies. After all it is easy for me to talk about being good to an enemy, but much of the time a greatest sense of satisfaction can be gotten by treating enemies badly and also life is hard and sometimes so much we. But how you use this magick is also a matter for you and it is much better to use magick much of the time than not to: it does seem to be a better tool for such difficult times.

Curse to push away an enemy's loves

To work this magick you should follow the

directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to push away an enemy's loves.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Lovgoaw state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

Use this magick and your enemy's loves be they male, female or both will be pushed away and their lives will not be as it was. But there is more to our lives than love because sometimes what we really need is some type of person we can trust and to have no one we can trust makes our lives difficult: however these people are not always the same person: and the people we can trust may simply be someone who has a great sense of honesty or someone who is a counsellor or even priest or some person who is known for simply saying what they want to and these people have a great value to us and without any of these people we are more alone than we would otherwise be.

Curse to push away an enemy's trusted people

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to push away an enemy's trusted people.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Nonacon Tiripee state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

When there are no friends or people that care or love us at least there may still be sex, the physical act which makes our lives more pleasurable, but since we have removed: or at least know how to remove: many other forms of connection between people through the use of curses I feel I would be amiss if I did not enlighten you on the correct method of removing anyone who would want to have sex with your chosen enemy, leaving them with only the solo aviator option. Therefore with this in mind here is how to work this particular type of curse.

Curse to push away anyone who wants to have sex with our enemy

To work this magick you should follow the

directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to push away anyone who wants to have sex with your enemy.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Rumsenono state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

Well I hope that this particular manner of mayhem has not disappointed, but do not worry because in further chapters they will be other ways of making trouble for other people. After all just think how dull life would be without problems: other people's problems. Therefore move forward in life knowing that if necessary you can shit on whoever you wish and they need never know. This is occult power unleashed, the ability to curse has the power to help us progress in life, punish others and provide entertainment, of the dark variety. But we should not feel that we need to deny our darker side because sometimes doing curses is the high moral ground to take and sometimes it is just fun. I like to feel that as you walk along your way, the mayhem you spread shall stimulate scientific, medical and social progress, and also provide much needed mirth in a sometimes humourless world.

Chapter 5

It is within this chapter that I will show you ways to attack your enemy's physical strength: but note that by physical strength I do not mean that we will be making them ill but rather that their actual strength and also endurance will decrease. In fact if we think that a lack of physical strength or endurance would make little difference to our life just think back to some moment when we had some type of injured back and think to the pain and how difficult it made life and then it will become apparent: if we have truly remembered the pain: that physical strength and endurance is necessary for our lives no matter how sedentary we may think we are. But of course I am not saying that we need to have herculean strength or the endurance of a marathon runner, but it is important. But it is not a matter of increasing our strength and endurance that this chapter is about but rather the removal of someone else's, so that they are rendered less able to function. But as before this magick will require you to utilise a single black candle and also something to light it with, some manner of candle holder and a piece of paper and a pen. This magick works because of the combination of different elements and it should not be forgotten at this point that the black candle signifies the blackness of the magick and when lit it symbolises this power: however it also helps you to trigger into the correct mental state to work the magick, because yes you are an element of the magick too in fact it all flows from you and your nature: you are it. But I also realise that the best way to truly understand how important you are to this magick is to work it and so here is magick to remove a person's strength in their musculature generally. You will need to perform this magick to get the effect of the curse to punish your chosen enemy.

Curse to take away your enemy's physical strength generally

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to remove your enemy's physical strength.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Weamusc state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I know that this magick will work for you and will take away your enemy's strength from their muscles. But of course there is other magick that can be done. But our muscles are important, after all how would we move around without our muscles. But they also feel to be to be a bigger part of us than mere locomotion and they also have further significance than that and it feels like they are us, and this means that they also have a mental significance, they also are even visualised by most people when they astral project: after all most people astral project using their own body's image and do not transform on the astral plane at all: although you can. But I will now present the information to do a curse upon an enemy to remove their muscular endurance, and although when many people think of endurance they think of their cardio repository system the curse upon musculature endurance is in many ways safer for those that do not wish to risk possibly killing their enemies. But here is the method now.

Curse to take away your enemy's muscular endurance

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse to remove their musculature endurance.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.

3. You should now chant: “Tirnono Endmusc state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the
magick is finished.

This magick works very well with the other curse to remove strength, leaving your enemy with no muscular strength or endurance and this will make it easier for them to get muscle pains and to even tear muscles. I know that this is painful and also torn muscles do not always heal, and they do not always go right in anyway because the human body can only take so much damage. I know that in the films and movies people get hurtled across the room, and they are fine, well in everyday life this is not usually the case although some people do tend to have a knack for falling and not getting hurt. However it is best not to fall at all. But because of the importance of not tearing muscles I will now show you how to curse someone so their muscles will tear.

Curse to tear an enemy's muscles

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to curse so that they will tear muscles.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Tarmusc state enemy’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the

magick is finished.

This magick should be used, although it should be remembered that a torn muscle can be permanent.

But do not think that this magick transfers their strength to you because your muscles will be unaffected by this magick, and so you should be careful to not tear yours: just as careful as you always are. But another important thing is the muscles of the midsection and also the next curse will attack the midsection and make it weak, and this is such an important part of the body, which we rely on so much that I will show you some magick to attack this. This will give a weakened midsection especially the back which will have special treatment in the curse which follows.

Curse to take away your enemy's mid section strength and cause back damage

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. You can now follow the directions to the curse to cause your enemy's back and midsection to be weak and damaged.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Weate Amidba state enemy’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

Use this magick against your enemy and they will be in incredible pain and also greatly disabled and unable to utilise their bodies as before. But you do need to really hate someone for this magick to be used: but when you do so is your choice. But do not think that you will be easily able to undo this magick because how to undo this curse is not within this book and also we should never curse anyone and not expect it to be powerful and not expect it to cause damage: because it will, and this is what it is for and meant to do.

Chapter 6

As Rene Descartes said; “I think therefore I am” which was the resolution of a chain of reasoning that he could imagine a world where the world he lived in was not real, and yet because he could think this meant that, that part of him that thought was real: that his thought was real and so he existed: “I think therefore I am” and this shows the importance of thought and by extension we may think our brains. But this is not to say that our brains must be perfect because I know of no such thing for certain but it is us and yet that which is a veritable cavern of our thoughts from which so much of us flows can so easily be cursed. But I will now simply show you one way to attack your enemy with curses but also to attack the brain in many other ways too. I will however show you each way of attacking the brain individually, so that you have the choice to choose what seems the most appropriate and I will start by showing you how to attack someone's short term memory, and in case you are wondering short term memory: also called working memory: is used for much of the problem solving that people do. But you must perform the ritual which comes next with the intent that it will work: do this and it will.

Curse to take away your enemy's short term memory

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle

with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Perform this curse to attack an enemy's short term memory.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Destroshomem state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the

magick is finished.

Now that you have learnt how to attack a person's short term memory I will also teach you to attack a person's long term memory. But we should remember that the long term memory is that which holds within it, the power to remember the past, the sum total of our lives both good and bad, and so, it is our lives and yet we do not remember everything and even forgetting has a function, and it also is true that when we forget too much, a lot of problems occur and it is as if our lives and all of our knowledge has been erased and so I will now show you how to do this to your chosen enemy.

Curse to take away your enemy's long term memory

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Perform this curse to attack an enemy's short term memory.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Destrolonmem state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

Curses are diverse and curses to minds are no less so, and so is their attacks, and so we should think about other aspects of the brain and our minds and when we realise that our minds have the most powerful magick, it could seem strange that they can be used to destroy other minds or even our own. But this also shows that there is something within humans and our minds which we cannot remove and we do not need to try, but what I can show you is a curse which can take away someone's ability to solve problems: or at least inhibit it: and this is a curse which should be used with care, because the ability to solve problems is so much a part of what it is to be human. But to remove this so human skill all you need to do is to perform this magick as described here.

Curse to remove your enemy's ability to solve problems

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black

candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Perform this curse to attack an enemy's ability to solve problems.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Enoab Nosolprob state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I know that some people may be saying that this magick to remove such a vital skill from another person is not needed, but to those people I say that perhaps you have been lucky enough not to meet someone who deserves this yet. The world has some evil people within it, and yet it also is true that sometimes a person's ability to help solve problems may solve some evil purpose such as perhaps planning some violent end and so I feel that sometimes such a cruel curse is needed. But we should never forget that all curses are quite cruel really. But life needs cruelty just as the finest fragrances have within them not just things which smell nice, but something which does not and it is this bitter and sweet combination which makes it all go together as it does, and this is generally true of life and it is the bitter sweet combination that is required. An important skill is the ability to concentrate and without this life is difficult. Not that sometimes skipping from mental concept to concept cannot help us: everything seems to have an upside to it somewhere. But it is better to be able to concentrate than not to, and so I will show you a curse to attack your chosen enemy's ability to concentrate.

Curse to take away your enemy's ability to concentrate

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Perform this curse to attack an enemy's concentration ability.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.

2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Nonocontho state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I hope that you have realised that you should be careful who you curse with this magick but good people to curse if you really want a target are serial killers: I usually advise dictators but such people are likely to have their finger atop a button controlling many war heads or weapons of mass destruction. But serial killers make wonderful targets, for curses because stopping them from concentrating will only cause harm to them, and no other person. But you should also congratulate yourself on what you have managed to learn and the occult secrets which you now possess. But also you may feel changed in some positive way and this is as a result of you now having connected to magick and because of this some new elements of yourself may have been discovered and this is because many people are not fully complete when they do not work real magick, and it is necessary, for them to truly discover who they are, and what they are capable of: not that magick is all there is to you because there is more than that. But just as magick is within you and around you, you have power over things which before you may have felt you were powerless over: magick and power of all types flow through you now, and you are more than before.

Chapter 7

It does seem in life that no one goes through unscathed, and that we all get ill eventually. But ill health is quite a disadvantage sometimes, and certainly not something which we want, and yet ill health is usually thought to be the result of either something which we have done, something someone else has done, or else bad luck: people never think that it can be a result of a curse. But the truth is that you may never truly know if it is caused by bad luck or a curse because such things may be out of the scope of the current abilities of the reader, although only at the moment, and I am sure after some time the reader will possess the correct amount of ability and knowledge. I know that making someone ill is something which may have lifelong consequences for them, and yet this is the type of curse I will be teaching you in this chapter. But do not rush and curse the first person you can think of because these curses do work and as long as you do not intend any magick to be done the curses will be simply poems, while if you intend the magick to work it will: not that you need to over think it because this is actually quite a simple and easy concept. But I will now show you a ritual that you can perform so that your enemy will get a bowel condition.

Curse an enemy's bowel

To work this magick you should follow the

directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Perform this curse to attack an enemy's bowel.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Attcabow state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This magick is to attack your enemy's bowel using magick. But what also is important is our ability to breathe and so our heart is important and any kind of heart condition can cause severe problems: and nothing is more severe than death. But this is not what is required all the time and so what will follow is not for every situation or even every enemy. But it will be useful when you need or want to use it. But of course the type of situation you deem serious enough to utilise this is a matter for you to decide and really no guide lines are necessary or suitable because it all comes down to personal choice. There is however one thing which you should bear in mind and this is that although this curse is not meant to kill someone this could be the result and so you should remember this before cursing anyone this way: and so think about this carefully before you curse anyone with the curse which follows.

Curse to attack an enemy's heart

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. To perform this curse to attack an enemy's heart.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Nobreheat state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I know that the ritual I have shown you, does work and it will work for you and will help you to get the best result that you can, and that is possible using your occult power. But there is always something more we can do and learn, and sometimes we may wish to combine different curses and any of these curses can be used alongside any other curse. We may wish for an effect which will be best obtained simply by using the effect of different magical rituals together, and what is here is compatible with all and every type of magick. But I will now move onto showing you how to work magick which has the ability to attack a person's stomach: using magick. I know that to, many people the stomach does not seem that important and not worthy of being curse but when our stomach causes us pain or we are unable to eat or have constant problems we find other things more difficult than we would. But also there are many serious stomach problems which I will not list here. But what I will do is to show you how to make a curse on someone's stomach.

Curse to attack an enemy's stomach

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. How to curse an enemy's stomach follows next.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: "Decanstom state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I hope that you now have gotten knowledge of how to curse an enemy's stomach but I feel it is good for you to know how to curse an enemy's spleen also. The spleen metabolises haemoglobin and so a spleen which does not work: a medical condition called Asplenia: is definitely problematic and I will show you how to curse someone so that this is what they will suffer from. But do not worry because a great knowledge of medicine is not required; after all you are not poisoning your enemy you are cursing them. However any basic medical knowledge you gain will help the curse be more successful.

Curse to attack an enemy's spleen and so cause asplenia

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. How to curse an enemy's spleen to cause asplenia follows next.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant: “Aspilhude state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

Now that you have learnt these particular types of curses you have almost learnt the most powerful methods: but not yet. What you have learnt is to make deep damage to your enemy, damage at the level of the person's internal organs. The body is like a car it may be nice to have unscratched bodywork, but if this is your choice or having an engine then at least you can still drive around in it with an engine. Also unfortunately at the moment replacement organs for humans are not easy to come by and although the time of false internal organs grown and used is probably not that far ahead, it is not here yet, and until it is we should look after what we have. But then again when people die they all die of something. But you should now steel your resolve because what is in the next chapter is even more vicious than anything you have seen do far. But as you have moved through the different levels of knowledge you also have gained in power and in the ability to grasp the idea of the scope of magick and what it can do and so the power that you posses.

Chapter 8

This is the end of the book and of course as this is a book about curses there is only one real way of concluding this book and this is death. Don't worry not my death or your death but of ways of killing using curses. But there are various ways of killing people using curses and by this I do not just mean that different methods can be used, but that our enemy can be dispatched different ways, even tortured as they die, and so we have the power to make their death either swift and quick or long and torturous. It is wonderful that we have the ability to do this because it is not just about harming our chosen enemy but also of showing the control we have: although as much to ourselves as anyone else. The power of magick is running through us all, it flies within us, and around us, it is that which helps us to make this magick work. But the first curse which I will show you is to get your enemy to die. But to do so as if they feel they are being hanged by an invisible noose and this curse is shown next for you to use at your leisure.

Curse for an enemy to be hanged to death

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Here follows a curse to cause an enemy to be killed through being hung by an invisible noose.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant “Nooschok state enemy's name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.
4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

This curse will give your enemy a most difficult death. But there are other curses each with their own ways of working and with their own difficulties which they inflict upon the enemy. But although death by hanging is painful I believe that to die and feel as if you are being burnt alive would be more of a violent death and even more painful, and with the spirit of mayhem high in my own spirit and knowing that you the reader will be waiting with held breath wishing to know how to burn an enemy alive and so with this in mind I will show this magick to you now.

Curse to an enemy to be burnt to death

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black

candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Here follows a curse to cause an enemy to be burnt to death.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant “Burndea state enemy’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

There is always extra scope for more violent curses and yet a balance has to be had between attack and torture, because if the balance is not correct a person wishing to cause pain and death may instead simply cause death and maybe even a completely pain free one. But magick is about balancing concepts, but also what you can think of a way of doing you can do, magick is like that. But I also realise that perhaps what would be a most savage death would be death which is caused by our bodies being stabbed by a dagger:

although it will be an occult one and not a solid dagger. But this curse will cause all manner of internal damage and yet it will not pierce the skin: as I said before it is not an actual dagger but a nonphysical curse which produces this effect. But do not think that this will not hurt because each and every time the dagger stabs the person: or seems to: they will feel great pain and every time you say the chant it will feel to your enemy as if they have been stabbed by a dagger and cause great damage and also death.

Curse to an enemy to be stabbed to death

To work this magick you should follow the

directions exactly and you will need a black candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Here follows a curse to cause an enemy to be killed as if stabbed by a dagger.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant “Stabpier state enemy's name" you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

I hope that you have gained a lot of knowledge from the curses so far and also hopefully some glee after all what would be the point in cursing people if we could not enjoy it, and life is such that we should wring what pleasure we can out of it, even if this is the pleasure of cursing someone. But some people do make good targets for curses such as dictators who are a good group of people to curse and to practice on and of course serial killers and the many other evil people who exist in the world. The strange thing is that cursing someone even when we curse them to death, is usually in most ways better than killing someone physically not least because cursing someone is not a bomb which hurts everyone, but is instead an accurate weapon which only hurts those we intend it to. But with this in mind I will now show you how a curse an enemy to die by being crushed.

Curse for an enemy to die from being crushed

To work this magick you should follow the directions exactly and you will need a black

candle, candle holder, something to light the candle with, a piece of paper and a pen. If you have these you have everything you need. Here follows a curse to cause an enemy to be killed through being crushed by a heavy weight.

1. You should take the paper and pen and write upon the paper the name of your chosen enemy: the person who the spell is to curse. You should then place the paper beneath the black candle.
2. Light the black candle.
3. You should now chant “Crubradest state enemy’s name” you should chant this for as long as you want but at least 1 minute.

4. You should then blow out the candle and the magick is finished.

By now you should have enough power to cause all types of curses to occur and many to choose from. But also having this at your disposal does not mean that you need to curse people for no reason, and unlike other forms of magick, curses do not need to be used, they are in many ways a what if, in the lives of many people. But knowing curses does give us the knowledge that we can deal with difficulties when they arise. Self confidence is something which magick gives lots of people. But do not think that you are limited by this book because the methods of occultism spread on and on and yet all that is needed for curses is also here. I just hope as the author of this tome that it helps in some way to enhance your life and also to have entertained, because I hope I have shown that cursing someone does not have to be something so dark that it makes your own life dark. As the reader however I have provided you with, tools that you can use and so you have the power to use offensive magick: also know as curses: when you need or want to and it is this choice which is the true power I provide.